MINUTES
March 3, 2020
First CRC – Sioux Center, IA

Art. 3517: The meeting begins with a time of worship being led by Kurt Monroe, the pastor of the host church. There is the singing of “Jesus Shall Reign Where’er the Sun” and the reading of Psalm 90, followed by Pastor Monroe sharing some thoughts on this Psalm, particularly verses 12-17, noting that every day of our lives are held in God’s hand. After the reciting of Heidelberg Catechism Q & A 1, he reminds us that we have been set free to carry out God’s work personally and as congregations, being called to do this as faithfully as we can no matter what stage in our personal life and in our congregational life we are in. After a prayer for God’s guidance is offered, the time of worship concludes with the singing of “My Comfort.”

Appendix – Classical Church Visit Reports

Platte Church visit

On October 6, Pastor John Gorter and myself visited with the council, and members of the congregation, of Platte Christian Reformed Church.

The Platte church expressed their gratitude for the tireless efforts of Pastor Drew. They spoke warmly about his wisdom and dedication to his work among them including the new discipleship group. They also spoke of their appreciation for his wife and the way that her gifting complements his gifting. There is clearly a good working relationship between the council and pastor. The elders noted their appreciation for high and proper expectations of them in their office. The elders and deacons seek to carry on continuity between outgoing office bearers and incoming office bearers by meeting together to discuss their work.

The Platte church rejoices in the new members who have recently joined the congregation. They have a mentoring program to help these couples grow in grace. They are hopeful that these new members will become more engaged in the life of the congregation. They do lament the number of young people who have moved out of the area and noted the hardship that this has put on the congregation.

The congregation is responsive to the leadership of the council and the council wants to ensure that they and the congregation have open lines of communication. The council does have questions and concerns about what is expected of them in regard to the Chamberlain church plant. They would appreciate a conversation with classical home missions on the matter.

The financial records and minutes of this congregation are in good order.

Respectfully submitted,
Rev. Adam Eisenga

Classical Church Visitor's Report On visit with the council of Bridge of Hope CRC, Sioux Center February 19, 2020

We had a very good meeting with the council of Bridge. They are a very committed group of people doing their best to serve their church and lead them forward. Their love for their church was reflected in our conversation. The Bridge is going thru some growing pains (similar to all churches at one time or other) right now. They have exciting new endeavors with the edition of a youth director and a new Bible study for their very active small group organization. Last year they had over 80% participation which is rather remarkable. They also are very happy with their pastor and his leadership. But with these exciting programs and additions comes the pains of finding a constant place for worship, encouraging better giving and the frustration of members leaving their church. Finding solutions and keeping the church vibrant and strong is their newest challenge.

God has been good to them and I am confident that they will go forward in strength with God leading them. The Bridge is working hard to keep their purpose alive and well. They are a unique church for those looking for a different approach from a traditional CRC.

Re: Church Visiting: Amistad Cristiana

Church Visitors: Rev. Gideon E. Wamala & Elder Jeff Santema (Calvin CRC)

On the evening of February 28, 2020, Elder Jeff Santema and I made our way to Sioux Center, Iowa to visit with the council of Amistad Cristiana, a Hispanic ministry now currently under the pastoral leadership of Pastor Arturo Olguin. As we made our way, we wondered as to how the visit would be, given the ethnic dynamic that would come into play as we visited. Needless to say, one thing worth mentioning is that the council invited us to share an evening meal with them before meeting officially. I must say that it was a wonderful meal, besides the camaraderie and fellowship it created between us.

As we transitioned into the visit itself, we introduced ourselves and the purpose of our visit, drawing reference to Article 42 of the Church Order. Simultaneously, one of the council members who was fluent in both English and Spanish interpreted the purpose of our visit in Spanish, an approach that featured throughout the visit. We then set the framework of the matters we were going to cover, namely, (1) reasons to joy in the ministry, (2) challenges in the ministry, (3) prayer concerns for the ministry, and (4) concluding prayer.

With regard to the reasons to joy in ministry, the council of Amistad Cristiana thanked and praised God for the unity in the church in spite of the diversity of cultures and spiritual backgrounds within the church. “Just because we are Hispanic doesn’t mean we aren’t different in all sorts of ways” remarked a council member. “We at least speak the same language.” Note was made of the exciting worship that connects with and is meaningful to the congregation. The participation of young people in the ministry, be it in leadership roles or other ministry related activities is yet another reason to joy in the Lord. The initiative to challenge people to know Jesus Christ, including getting people involved in Bible studies has been fruitful; Pastor Arturo also mentioned the ongoing effort to teach the Reformed faith and tradition to several congregant members. Our question regarding how the church made its presence known in the community certainly generated quite some buzz. Evangelism events, town picnics, and serving meals after worship services, including social media and radio, are some of the ways Amistad Cristiana continues to make herself known in the community.

We then transitioned to the challenges of ministry. Pastor Arturo brought up the youth and their struggles with issues of sexuality, cultural identity, sense of direction and purpose, including his efforts to provide Biblical guidance and counsel. The size of the congregation, let alone a limited budget, was also mentioned. “We cannot provide as many ministry opportunities as larger churches in the community do” stated a council member. Also, given that Amistad Cristiana has a significant number of immigrants in her midst, immigration issues are a concern. To add, most of the Hispanics that Amistad Cristiana attempts to reach out to are Roman Catholic by background, and may, therefore, hesitate to explore the Reformed faith. Notwithstanding, Amistad Cristiana desires to be seen as a fellow church rather than a church that is merely “welcomed.”

Before concluding our visit with prayer, Elder Jeff and I noted the prayer concerns Amistad Cristiana would like other churches in Classis to include in their prayers:

- To develop and have a larger pool of candidates for council office
- To have an impact in the Hispanic community
- To pray for council members
- To train and disciple potential leaders

We then concluded our visit with prayer. Certainly, in spite of the challenges Amistad Cristiana faces in ministry, God continues to move in their midst for His name's sake and glory. As the Bible states, “. . . that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, and every tongue acknowledge that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father” (Philippians 2:10-11).

In Christ's service,

Rev. Gideon E. Wamala
Elder Jeff Santema
